Nouvest Buick Yet

You know all that talk you've been hearing about the 1957 new car models being really new?

Well, in the case of the 1957 Buicks it's true - gospel true.

We mean these 1957 Buicks are new in the precise and literal sense.

We mean new from the ground up, and from gleaming grille to sassy taillights.

We mean new lowness, new styling, new bodies, new windshields, new controls, new safety-padded instrument panels, new safety steering wheels, new seating, new fabrics, new colors.

We mean new front end, new rear end, new frame, new braking, new steering, new handling, new riding, new roadability - a whole new chassis of greater solidity and safety.

We mean V8 engines new from the crankshaft up - engines that deliver an all-time high in horsepower and compression from their 364-cubic-inch displacement.

And we mean, most of all, an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*-so instant in the starting range - so utterly smooth and so totally full-range in "Drive"-that your need for "Low" is practically

So come take in these low-silhouses, these boldly beautiful, these instantly obedient Buicks for 1957.

Then you'll see why you can't blame us for being so fired up about it all - and how catching this excitement can be.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaslow is the only Dynaslow Buick builds today, It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century-optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Merit System Should Be Introduced Into Schools For Paying Teachers paid more than mediocre or poor ones was projected during the discussion of educational problems at the recent Schoolmen's Week conference in Philadelphia.

There are a good many reasons why this simple notion is hard to put into practice. Teachers are not the only category of people in this country who are paid on some other basis than the old-fashioned scale of rewarding the good and efficient performer better than the indifferent and careless one.

The educational world has been infected by a worship of academic degrees to the extent that, in some circles at least, teachers are paid for going to school rather than for

And while academic degrees win rewards, whether or not they improve the quality of a teacher's performance, other experiences, such as travel or taking a job outside the school room, which might stimulate a teacher to a better standard of work, are not re-

All the blame for this state of things can-

A suggestion that good teachers should be not be put on the colleges which award degrees and like to encourage teachers to get higher academic standing.

Some of the blame goes to the teachers themselves, and much of it must be shouldered by school boards, administrators and supervisors as well as the public and protesting taxpayer. It is a lot easier for all these people if they pay teachers according to their qualifications instead of their performance, Pressures from outside groups, from parents and students and from the teachers themselves make it difficult for school boards to act objectively. Administrators find themselves with something to do every available minute of the work day and are not anxious to take on the added responsibility of judging teachers under present schedules.

Yet, in spite of the difficulties, it should be possible to introduce the merit principle into the pay scale for teachers.

Perhaps, on the basis of experience, recognized ability and demonstrated results, good teachers could be recognized with a sort of special degree of "Master Teacher," which should automatically carry a pay increase.

Russian Brutality Will Heighten Anti-Soviet Feeling In Hungary

The fact that Russia used trickery and murderous brutality to put down the Hungarian revolt will only heighten anti-Soviet feeling in the little satellite country. Russian infamy can never be forgotten or forgiven by the peoples who have endured it.

Out of the uprising comes at least one bit of cheering news-the release of the famed Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

The world will never forget the bald cruelty of his trial and imprisonment at the hands of Hungarian Reds on trumped-up charges of treason and and of all thingsblack market operations.

By the same token, his liberation signals the faltering of that tyranny. In Hungary, as in Poland and to some extent East Germany, new symbols and rallying points are rising. Their emergence can only mean bad news for the Kremlin, and that is good news hour. Explaining why your grand-

They gave a "quality performance in the roles life assigned them" and to those they were free to choose. And it's only fair to tell you that they did rather more selecting than otherwise. Just now it is a popular concept to "adapt" oneself, to fit into prescribed patterns of pleasantry, to be sure one never inflicts any undesirable or uncomfortable imprint on others. "People won't

They believed the good Lord put them on earth for a reason, and it behooved them to investigate His intentions. They were devout men. They knew in Whom they believe ed. Doubt was incomprehensible to them. They were not faultless men, of course. But there was so much laughter and story-telling and reciting poetry and doing mental mathamatics and harvesting and studying and working, they had little interest in what appeared dismal or desultory.

Some of your grandfathers were rich, most of them weren't. One was Spanish, one Dutch, several French and English, with good strong Scotch and Welsh touches here and there. Nationally? Bank accounts? Those have nothing to do with being gentlemen.

Your grandfathers believed that life had quality. They had respect for life and every human being who lived it. Perhaps their standards seem boastfully high, unnecessarily high. It is possible to report that most of the known uranium mines in Hungary are in three major coal areas: In the southeast near Pecs; in the northeast at Kazinc, Barcika, and the Saje Valley; and at Tatabanya in the Budapest section.

Grimly indicative of the extreme importance the Reds attach to Hungary's uranium is the following publishable Intelligence

All uranium mined in the satellites is sent to Russia. Recently the Soviet promised to build a 2,000 kw reactor in Hungary in return for the uranium ore being obtained there."

So the Kremlin rushed Deputy Premier Anastas Mikovan, ironhanded henchman of Stalin, and Mikhail Suslov, top-member of the Communist Party Secretariat and another Stalin hatchetman, to Hungary. Their job was to direct the complete extermination of the rebellion.

For this purpose, Marshal Zhukov, overall commander of the satellite armies, was given a free hand on military operations.

[®] First thing Zhukov did was to order the withdrawal to Russia of all regular garrison elements, As they departed, their places were taken by Russian armored and other units who were strangers to Hungary. When these movements and dispositions were completed, the Reds began their horrible blood bath.

Simultaneously, Mikoyan and Suslov installed the Kremlin's new puppet regime.

The Hungarian army never had a chance against the seven armored and one motorized division sent in by the Russians. The Hungarians were armed with few tanks, chiefly for training purposes. Similarly, they had little artillery. Most of their weapons are World War II small

Note: Before Secretary of State Dulles' sudden intestinal operation and Russia's bloody annihilation of the Hungarian revolt, he proposed at a National Security Council meeting that feelers be put out to the Soviet on a plan to set up a "buffer of neutral states" in Eastern Europe from the Baltic to the Black Sea. Admiral Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, favored this scheme. But it was vigorously opposed by Defense Secretary Wilson, Treasury Secretary George Humphrey and Harold Stassen, White House assistant on disarmament. Due to this wide disagreement, Dulles' proposal was shelved

THE CLASSIC DESIGN OF BUICK'S new dream car styling for 1957 is exemplified in the Super four-door hardtop with its low silhouette and racy lines. Powered by a 300-horsepower V-8 engine, with 10-to-1 compression ratio, the Super is one of the most agile cars on the highway. Bigger panoramic windshields, roomier bodies and a completely new chassis are featured on all new Buicks. Buick's variable pitch Dynaflow tranmission and power steering are standard on the super. Weichel Buick, local dealer, introduces the 1957 Buick here today.

ntroduced today at Weichel Buick, Stroudsburg.

All of the new cars have been reduced in height. Some models are as much as three and threeeights inches lower than last year's, without any sacrifice in ground clearance. Headroom remains the same and legroom has been increased in the four-door hardtops. The new styling presents a new front and rear design, bigger panoramic windshield with a more rakish slant to the pillars, new bumpers both front and rear and three-piece back windows. The hoodline has been lowered and the fender lines raised, accentuating the long, low silhouette, and also providing better visibility.

The lower silhouette of the new Buicks was made possible by changing the frame design to permit the body to nestle between the side

For the first time a ball-joint suspension is used, improving the stability of the car on corners and curves, and a new, anti-dive device reduced front end dives on fast stops by 60 per cent. Buick's 1957 line comes in 20 body styles with a two and four

Thank Offering Service For Presbyterians

Mrs. Isabelle Scubold of the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church USA was guest speaker at the annual Thank Offering service sponsored by the Women's Association of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church on Wednesday night. Introduced by Mrs. Claude Leister, Miss Seubold linked the development of a personality through the use of a whole person in becoming a Christian, and told of her visits to some of the hospitals and schools to which the "opportunity" giving of the society will go. Advancement of mission work in Africa, building and equipment for national missions, and short term salaries for directors of education in small churches are among the major fields to which the money goes. Mrs. Gordon Coy, president of the association, read the opening scripture and Mrs. John Sinclair led in prayer. Mrs. John Wellington, Mrs. Hazel West, Mrs. George Wakefield and Mrs. Frank Grimm served as ushers. Special music featured a quartette, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Farmer and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolbert, singing "Go Ye Into All the World", under the direction of Vernon C. Imbt. The meeting followed the regular Wednesday night family supper at the church. The Junior Youth Fellowship presented their project "Museum of the Church" on which they have been work-

-By Bobby Westbrook As long as we're in a mellow mood, let's continue with the list of things you never miss until you don't have them anymore. Take the matter of messed-up cereal boxes. Bet I could tell the age of your children by the state of the cereal boxes on your shelveswell almost, anyway. If the tops are ripped off in jagged fashion and little streams of cereal are dribbling along the shelves, and no matter how many you have there isn't a single one that hasn't been opened-

Well, Dr. Watson, it's elementary to deduce that the children are tail enough to reach the cereal shelf or smart enough to bring a chair, and old enough to know that every cereal box has something in it to blow up, put together, or paint, which to them is far more important than the

If the boxes are standing in pristine rows with neatly cut tops then either you've no children at all or they're still in the cribs. But if your spice shelf is littered with little figurines, miniature pea-shooters, balloons, and a whole series of Indian lore; then your children are grown up but you haven't outgrown the habit of saving the stuff, or else you're a grandmother. Many's the time I've bemoaned the litter and the staleness resulting from such wholesale pawan experated hour I've spent cuting out the corners or fitting together locks or pasting on card board. Many a fight I've umpired as to whose turn it was to get

But you know something? I get a little homesick pang at those neat boxes keeping their contents crisp, and those silly gimmicks all unplayed with.

Whadda you mean, you got a better buy? I paid $400 less for my heating system!

Yeah! But what you didn't figure on is this-

I put in a Weil-McLain Radiant Baseboard System...that gives me the edge in two ways! First, better heating, more comfort. More radiant heat-no icy downdrafts from the windows. It's a forced circulation hot water system, so the temperature is automatically kept at the comfort level. Second, in the long run I'll more than make up the difference in cost! Weil-McLain Baseboards and Boiler are cast iron-virtually a lifetime installation. No frequent repairs-no replacement of equipment. It's a better buy all around...that's why my house has a higher resale value and I got better mortgage terms.
